Hill Will Support the Ticket

A special from New York to the Cincinnati Enquirer says :

Senator David B. Hill was hard a Senator David B. Hill was hard at work to-day in Albany attempting to crack the hardest political nut that he has ever haudled, although he has frequently succeeded in breaking some vory hard ones. The Sonator has decided to support the ticket, but he will not indo entire platform adopted at the Chicago Convention.

In the statement which the Senator is preparing, and which he expects to give to the public on Wednesday, he will attempt to show a way for Eastern Democrats to vote for Bryan and Sewell, and yet oppose the Chicago platform, This problem is not yet piatrom, This problem is not yet thoroughly worked out in the Sena-tor's own misd. Upon the currency question the Senator will fall back on the lines of his Elmira speech, but he will speak about an international bimetallic agreement in the most emphatic terms. Then he will refer emphatic terms. Then he will refer to his record on the income tax. After to his record on the income tax. After reiterating his position upon these questions he will pay respects to Mc-Kinley and the members of the syndi-cate that controls him. He will hold McKinley responsible for most of the distress experienced by the people of West and South West and South

Then McKinley and Bryan will b Then McKinley and Bryan will be compared, to the great advantage of the latter. The Senator will take it for granted that New York will ago to sound money any way, and therefore the party organization should be maintained, in order that sound money Democrats can be elected to Congress. Senator Hill will hold that the currency anestice amond be made a native.

rency question cannot be made a party one, but must be finally disposed of one, but must be finally disposed of by the conservative element of each party in Congress. So, even if Bryan were elected, a good representation of sound money Democrats in Congress would be all the more necessary. By reviewing the record of the Republi can party in the State and the nation the Senator will argue that the prese vation of the Democratic party is necessary to the welfare of the country
Of course, these are only the roug outlines of what Senator Hill wil have to say.

We would like to w how these bolters could give to the name Democrats There is but one Democratic party in these United States. It has fad its convention after having been regularly called, adopting a platform and auming its candidates it adjourned. They, the boiters, would have no authority to call a Democratic Convention. They would be boiters, participants would be boiters participants would be boiters and the nominees would be boiters and the nominees would be boiters and the nominees would be possible of the provided by t There is but one Democratic party

The Louisville Post sometime ego a democratic journal has bristled up again and wants to fight. It grows at every passing object and declars liself a democratic newspaper and every one who dares to go any other way except its way a traitor. It talks about Mr. Bryan as a "School Boy Orator," and wants to call him names and this in the face of what Congres and this in the face of what Congressian McCreary and other life long democrats and great men who have been associated with him have to say. Kenitucky has demonstrated that she can getalong without the Post and its nock known it are enough from home to do the Democratic ticket any harm. With democratis, since the action of the National Convention and the declarations of the party, crushed theories are of the past and what all democrats have to do is to accept the platform and have to do is to accept the platform and the leaders and work for their success in November, and they will do it, the advice of the Post to the contrary.

Mr. Bryan a Man of Destiny.

dr. Bryan, the Democratic nomi-for President of the United States, is to line with the fixed order of things. With the cry of hard times and oppression from every source, the people, not knewing where to look for a leader, received a voice as from heaven. A man, in a moment and without warning, is subsered into the highest arens of prominence and becomes the Moses of an oppressed people. He is a man of fate and will lead the hoss to victory. There is no power on earth that can stop this great movement inaugurated, as we believe, by the people under the direction of the supreme being. is in line with the fixed order of thing

Senator David B. Hill, when asked Senator David B. Hill, when asked what he proposed to do about sup-porting the ticket, answered: "I was a Democrat before the Convention; I am a Democrat still." We commend these words of the New York Senator to some of our "gold bug" friends.

To Your Post. Democrats

To Your Post. Democratis.

The Democratic Convention has spoken. It has presented to the people its platform and its candidates for Peresident and Vice President, and now sake every loyal Democrat to heartily and loyally support the ticket is has put in the field. There would be something strange, if in presenting its platform it should enunciate a set of principles and present, candidates that would fill the individual wishes of very worten the party. Such a thing never has happened in any national campaign, and never will. What we want to do now is to sleet the men we have nominated. To do this only requires a getting together of only requires a getting together of the wings of the party. It has been prominent tenet of faith with u a prominent tenet of faith with us that the minority must bow to the will of the majority. That majority has now spoken and it reeks not whether we belonged to the majority or were numbered with the minority or dut as good Democrats is now too plain to admit of question. The lines of battle are drawn and every true Democrats will be found trying to aid his party to score a victory in November.

So far as we are able to ascert the deserters from the ranks of the the deserters from the ranks of the party can, in this county, be numbered on the fingers of one hand, and it is hardly probable that even these will all go over into the Republican camp. The personel of the ticket is a splendid e, and no Democrat need hesitate to

To your posts, Democrats, and see to it that you do your whole duty to your party in this hour when it needs every true man to stand with it.

Never since the campaign of 1860 has there been a campaign that de-manded more of the members of the Democratic party than the present ore. We have just passed through an internecine conflict so fierce that it has stirred the blood of both wings of the party to fever heat. The advo-cates of free silver have won by a ma-jority so declsive that the gold people were in a hopeless minority when our representatives met in national con-rection. The silver men have won the fight, and won it fairly. If the gold advo-sates had won they would have demanded the hearty support the silver selement to the ticket and would have denounced all bolters and sulkers as trailers. Then it behowes every gold. Democrat to show himself every whit a man, and prove to the whit a man, and prove to the one of them to do what he will and on the order of the order o ot do himself, to-wit: stand true to gold democrats to support McKinley. It is nothing new for the Sun to kick out of the traces when either the can didate or some plank in the platforn does not happen to suit its sweet pleas ure. Because Mr. Cleveland was not personally agreeble to the Sun it frought him with a tirulence that amounted to positive malevolence. The Louisville Courier-Journal also repudiates the Domocratic teket and and calls for a convention of gold Democrats to plaze a tleket in the field. The Courier-Journal is making the mistake of its life in pursueing this course. Heretofore when this great and influential journal has found itself one of hepeless' minority in a contest inside of the party, involving national sinces it has gracefully subure. Because Mr. Cleveland was no national issues it has gracefully sub-mitted and devoted its energies to the success of the party; now there has seemed to come a parting of the ways tween the Courier-Journal and its old time friends

Vanceburg, Ky., July 8 .- Rev Lemuel Penrod, who has just been remanded to jail by Judge Fisher, in default of bond, for the cutting of William Carver's throat last Saturday, William Carver's throat last Saturday, was visited in this cell by a Times correspondent. It will be remembered that-flev. Pentrod narrowly eached the pentrentnary last year for shooting a church member, Deacon John Slate, through the right leg. He and Slate engaged in a heated argument over the necessity and efficacy of pedobaptian. Rev. Penrod claimed that if infants were not baptised they would run mighty close to the brink!

Rev. Penrod at this drew a revolver and told Siate to choose between retraction and bullets. Slate was stubborn and refused to heed the holy man's commands. Thereupon the reverend gentleman let him "have it" in the shin.

Plenty of Room and Feed

commencing to feed a lot

In commencing to feed a lot o young pigs, it is comparatively easy to get into the habit of giving a certain quantity at every meal, and of feeding in the same troughs, without taking into consideration the fact that the pigs should be given more room and more feed.

When destring to push the growth as much as possible, there is only one safe rule in feeding, and that is to give them all they will eat up clean, at each meal, and have trough room enough so that each one can secure a full share without being obliged to fight for it.

If this is done, it will be necessary to gradually increase the ration of the fight for it.

If this is done, it will be necessary to gradually increase the ration of the pigs as they grow. It will be well enough to arrange plenty of trough room at the start by allowing at itself enough to come to the length of trough for each pig that is expected to eat. The best way of feeding the right quantity is to watch them eat, and feed more if needed. The fact is that the man who makes the best success in feeding pigs must like to stand and watch them eat. The man who makes it a wole to throw in a certain quantity of grain on the feeding floor, and to pour a certain quantity of sponding the pigs of the pigs on the freeding pigs and then walks off, and gives the pigs not further attention until the next time to teed, will never make the pigs not further attention until the next time to teed, will never make the pigs not further at each on until the next time to teed, will never make the pigs not further at each to make the pigs of the pigs not forther at each to make the pigs of the pigs not forther at the pigs of the p

We are apt to think that we mod We are apt to think that we mod-erns have very little to do in the way of exploring the globe, and that the recent explorations in Africa have quite put the flaisling touch to geo-graphical knowledge, so that he who wishes to set foot on virgin soil must sigh, like Alexander, for another world. Those who entertain such opinions may calm themselves with the thought that no less a portion of the earth's surface than 20,000,000 square miles is yet a fit subject for in-vestigation and on a large part of this vestigation and on a large part of this the foot of civilized man has not yet trod. "At the London Geographical Con-gress Mr. Logan Louley gave a very lateresting study of the present state of exploration of the globe. It ap-pears that modern geographers have an immense amount of labor be-fore them to make us acquainted with all parts of the earth. This conclusion will astonish some people, for there is a general impression that almost all regions of the earth are well ex-plored. plored .
